Federal Account Insurance Coverage Summaries

The federal account insurance coverage summaries that follow provide you with an overview of the six key ways that you can organize your accounts at our credit union to increase your federal account insurance coverage. The coverage addressed in each summary is provided by the NCUSIF separately from, and in addition to, all the other ways that you can increase your account insurance coverage as explained in these summaries. Therefore, these summaries provide you with a number of ways to organize your accounts to obtain the maximum amount of federal account insurance coverage possible. Again, please contact us or the NCUA should you have any questions about the specifics of any of these federal account insurance coverages.

Your One Owner Accounts (No Beneficiaries or POD Payees)

All of your accounts that you own by yourself (alone) without beneficiaries or POD payees are added together and insured by the NCUSIF up to $250,000.

Your Retirement Accounts (IRAs and Keoghs)

All of your IRA and Roth IRA accounts are added together and insured by the NCUSIF up to $250,000, and all of your Keogh accounts are added together and insured by the NCUSIF up to $250,000. Your $250,000 IRA account coverage and $250,000 Keogh account coverage are insured separately from one another.

Your POD or Trust Accounts & Accounts That Hold the Funds of Your Revocable Living Trust

When you name a person (or charitable or non-profit organization) as a beneficiary or POD (Payable on Death) payee on your account

(referred to as a POD or trust account), you receive up to $250,000 in NCUSIF insurance coverage for each beneficiary or POD payee designated on your account. This $250,000 per beneficiary account insurance coverage also applies to all your account(s) that hold the funds of your revocable living trust for each beneficiary of your revocable living trust (without having to name the beneficiary(s) of the trust as the beneficiary(s) on your account(s) that hold the funds of the trust). Though you can only receive a maximum of $250,000 in coverage for each person (or charitable or non-profit organization) you name as a beneficiary or POD payee on one or more of your POD or trust accounts (or as a beneficiary on your revocable living trust), this often provides millions of dollars in NCUSIF insurance coverage. Additionally, this $250,000 in account insurance coverage for each account beneficiary or POD payee and each trust beneficiary, applies whether you own the account alone (a one owner account) or with other persons (a multiple owner or joint account). Therefore, on multiple owner accounts, each owner on the account would receive up to $250,000 in account insurance coverage for each beneficiary or POD payee named on the POD or trust account, or for each beneficiary named on the revocable living trust and held in the account.

Your Multiple Owner Accounts (No Beneficiaries or POD Payees)

All of your accounts that you own with one or more other account owners (referred to as multiple owner or joint accounts) without beneficiaries or POD payees are added together and your share of the funds in those accounts is insured by the NCUSIF up to a total of $250,000.

Your Uniform Transfers to Minors Act Accounts

Your account that holds the funds for a minor (typically your child, grandchild, niece or nephew) under our state's Uniform Transfers to Minors Act (UTMA) is insured by the NCUSIF up to $250,000 for each minor.

Your Guardian or Conservator Accounts

Your accounts that you have opened as a guardian or conservator to hold the funds of a protected person are added together and insured by the NCUSIF up to $250,000 for each protected person. Your accounts that you have opened as a guardian or conservator for each protected person are insured separately from all the other coverages addressed in these summaries.

About the NCUA and NCUSIF

Your savings and deposits at Leaders Credit Union are insured by the National Credit Union Share Insurance Fund (NCUSIF), which is backed by the full faith and credit of the United States Government. Established by Congress to insure member share accounts at federally insured credit unions, the NCUSIF is managed by the National Credit Union Administration (NCUA), a federal government agency and our federal regulator. This federal government insurance fund for credit unions provides the same coverage as the FDIC's insurance fund for banks. For more information about the NCUSIF and the NCUA, please contact us or the NCUA at 1-800-755-1030 or www.ncua.gov.
